La Mesa Must Assume Outstanding Bonds For Helix And Grossmont High Schools

At a meeting held Friday, attended by twelve of the leading citizens of Lemon Grove, it became apparent that unification of the Elementary School District would not increase the present tax rate, and that Lemon Grove would not have to continue to pay for Helix and Grossmont High Schools. Lemon Grove, at the present time, pays an excess tax levy of $1.10 per $100 valuation. There is a possibility this excess tax rate will be reduced under a unified school district. It was pointed out that at this time we have an excess tax levy of 50c over the legal tax rate of 90c per $100 assessed valuation for operating the elementary schools. There is also, at present, an excess tax levy of 60c over the legal tax rate of 75c per $100 of assessed valuation for the operation of high schools under the Grossmont High School District. The combined excess tax levies of $1.10 per $100 per assessed valuation would be voided if the people of Lemon Grove have the chance to vote on the unification of the present elementary school district.

The passage of Proposition 2, the initiative measure for increased support, would guarantee operating funds sufficient to finance a unified school district. If, however, excess tax levies are needed in a unified district they would have to be approved again by a vote of the people. In case of unification here, the tax now collected for high school purposes, and funds received from the State, would come directly to this district and would not be an additional cost. Lemon Grove bonded capacity is legally limited by State law. The legal limit is 5% of assessed valuation for elementary schools building, and 5% for high school building. It is a well known fact that Lemon Grove has approached that limit under the present Grossmont Union High School District. It is also a well defined fact that more high schools will be needed in the Grossmont District and it follows that Lemon Grove will be bonded to its capacity whether it is a strongly unified school district or remains a part of the Grossmont Union High School District. Since La Mesa-Spring Valley has agreed to assume Lemon Grove's share of the outstanding bonded indebtedness and repayment to the State for Helix and Grossmont High Schools, Lemon Grove, as a unified School District, could use all of that bonding capacity to build their own high school where they want it. If, however, Proposition 24, the $185 million dollar State bond issue passes in November, Lemon Grove will be provided with funds to complete the total high school building program and the task will be much easier.

At the meeting held Friday, it was brought out that many people are unwittingly signing a petition prepared by the Grossmont High School administration requesting the State Board of Education to postpone action on the proposal to unify the La Mesa-Spring Valley School District. Many of the people who signed are in favor of the unification of the Lemon Grove School District but were not aware of the effect the petition might have on the Lemon Grove proposal. These questions might naturally follow:

Did you know that by signing this petition the proposal of Lemon Grove could be postponed indefinitely?

Did you know that unless the State Board of Education acts at its October meeting on the proposal to unify Lemon Grove the matter cannot come to a vote of the people this year?

Did you know that postponement of this vote will make it impossible to construct a high school in the Lemon Grove District? State funds for that purpose will be used to provide a high school in other parts of the Grossmont High School District.

We will know whether State funds are available before we are asked to vote in December. This is the surprising fact!

Did you know that Lemon Grove will be financially able to provide a high school whether State funds are available or not? People should remember that the annual cost to the taxpayer of Lemon Grove for high school building will be the amount a 40c tax levy will raise whether the high school buildings are here or elsewhere in the Grossmont District. Some of the questions regarding unification uppermost in the minds of Lemon Grovans are—What is unification? Answer: A program of continuous instruction, Kindergarten through Grade 12, planned and supervised by the same Board of Education and teaching staff. Lemon Grove is not represented on the Grossmont High School Board. What about a high school? Answer: Unification makes possible the construction of a centrally located high school for Lemon Grove children. Where do my children go to school while a high school is being built? Answer: La Mesa has agreed to teach all children until we construct one. How would a high school affect Lemon Grove? Answer: It will provide a high school as a center of interest for the community, for community and youth recreation activities. It would provide maximum local control and assure community pride and interest in the total school plan. It would make it possible to plan immediately for a long term building program. Has the Grossmont Board failed Lemon Grove? Answer: No, not entirely. They have done a splendid job in the past. We are now, however, a community of approximately 18,000 population, with five elementary schools. Grossmont is unable to foresee our problems. Since we have no Lemon Grove member on the Grossmont Board we have no control over the education of our children after they reach the 9th grade. Unified districts of our size are recommended by such groups as the California Teachers Association, California Parent-Teachers Associations, State Department of Education, State Legislature (passed law giving $5 bonus per pupil to newly unified districts). Does Grossmont oppose our unifying? Answer: Some of the employed staff members are making every effort to obstruct the opportunity for the people of Lemon Grove to vote on this proposal. Will it raise my taxes? Answer: No. As stated, it is a possibility that taxes may be lowered by greatly reduced transportation costs and State aid by passage of Proposition 24. These facts, and many others, will be discussed at the meeting to be held Friday, Oct. 10, at 8:00 p. m., at the San Miguel School Auditorium, sponsored by the Citizens' Advisory Council.

By Beverly Henderson

One of our more intellectual teenagers is Patricia Mouillesseaux of 7921 Mt. Vernon. Pat has many hobbies, among her favorites are square dancing, cooking, sewing, almost any type of sports, and reading. She has an excellent second-soprano voice and is a member of the Helix Green-Robed choir, was a member of the girl's ensemble. Pat received a Jr. Perpetual trophy in June of 1951 for her outstanding ability in choir activities.

She a an active member of the C. S. F. (California Scholarship Federation) and is trying for a college scholarship. Pat came to Lemon Grove 6 years ago from New York and has attended Lemon Grove Elementary, Grossmont, and is now a senior at Helix High. She lives with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Mouillessuex, and is one of 5 children. Pat stands 5'3", weighs about 110 lbs., has dark brown hair and eyes. She is as yet uncertain as to what she intends to do after attending college but she intends to major in music.

Miss Mouillesseaux likes to compose music and has composed some very "catchy" tunes. None of them have ever been published. She does it strictly for her own amusement and doubts if she will ever become a professional composer.

Wigtons to Occupy New Building Floor Area Doubled

Major changes in the merchandise community of Lemon Grove will see Evelyn Wigton's in a new location in mid-October according to Tom and Evelyn Wigton, firm's owners.

The move from the present location to a floor area at least twice a great is being worked out to coincide with the opening of Roy Lane's new shoe store, the latter will take over Wigton's present location. The new Wigton shop is one door west of its present location in the 7700 blk. on Broadway.

The new Wigton shop will boast many innovations. All departments will be expanded, according to Evelyn Wigton. A much greater selection of merchandise, heretofore controlled by lack of space will have been overcome, she said. Lingerie and foundation garments will be departmentalized, she said.

Expanded will be the formals and dressy dresses departments. The alteration department will be greatly enlarged, Tom Wigton said.

For the opening event, permanent corsages for fall wear will be given every lady who comes into the store, Wigton said.

The opening date has not been definitely set but it is hoped that sometime during the week of the twentieth contractors will have finished so that the opening can get under way.

Wigtons has established itself here and in El Cajon for handling nationally known quality merchandise.

Some of fifty-three lines handled includes Koret sports wear; Jantzen sweaters and swim wear; Maiden Form, Warners, Peter Pan, Kabo and Gossard foundations; L'Aiglon, Martha Maning and Jonathan Logan dresses, Gotham Gold Stripe and Cal-Sheer hose. Most brands handled can be seen in the monthly magazines read by women.

Monthly charge account, invited by the firm, has been partly responsible for its rapid growth, Wigton stated.

A 53 piece set of silver, now being displayed at Walter's Jewelry and a bicycle, on display at the Grove Western Auto store will be among the prizes when the opening is held. A man's suit, also to be given will come from Lane's own store.

THE SCHOOLS ARE OURS

AN EDITORIAL

There is no community institution that is more closely interwoven with family life and public welfare than the public school. While State and local taxpayers both share the cost of running our schools, and the State government exercises a degree of general guidance in educational affairs, the control and direction of the schools lie largely in local hands. It would be as unthinkable to call in a stranger to serve on our school board as it would be to import a stranger to serve as mayor if we should incorporate.

When the schools need help, invariably it is local people who shoulder the responsibility of bringing the message to the voters. This past week, in our community, saw committees formed of local people—PTA members, schoolteachers, school board trustees, Republicans and Democrats—who have volunteered to devote time and effort between now and election day to explain to all of us how our schools will be benefited by passage of Proposition 2 and 24.

The message these local committes will bring is that Proposition 2 makes up for the ravages of inflation on school budgets by increasing the State share of school support and relieving the tax pressure on local homeowners; and that Proposition 24 provides for a State bond issue to finance the building or enlarging of schools in districts where inadequacy of classroom space has reached the distress state and where local taxpayers have exhausted their tax and borrowing resources for building purposes.

Both these measures are important to our children, our community and to us.

The Review urgently recommends that you vote "yes" on these two vital issues.

Inside Goodwin

by Max Goodwin

The Reconstruction Finance Corporation, a depression-born emergency agency, had naturally outlived its reason for existence as soon as World War II yanked the country out of depression into wildfire inflation. Its usefulness, that is, to all save the army of faithful Trumanites for whom the bureau provided jobs. To save their jobs, they had—as do all bureaucrats— to continue doing business on the grand scale.

They continued business with such zeal, and with such costly incompetence and scandalous irregularities, that last year the bureau seemed doomed. To save the RFC (and the jobs for all) W. Stuart Symington set out to clean it up and to establish an economic, business-like basis for granting loans.

Result? Competent newspaperman, James Daniel, completed an investigation with the report that the RFC, doing less business with a still over-swollen staff is doing it so expensively that it now costs the bureau about seven times as much to put through a loan as it does an average commercial bank!

In other words, a private bank, which has to consider that a dollar—even a 53 cent dollar—is a dollar to be responsible for, would go broke trying to operate as the RFC does. The only way the RFC can go broke is for the taxpayers who feed it to go broke. Before that happens, it would seem the part of horse sense to do away with the superannuated RFC for once and all. That might not set well with the job-holders affected — but they wouldn't starve. Remember, boys—that depression is over!

SUNDAY'S SERMON

Rev. Robert H. Harper

Christ's Standard of Moral Purity.

Lesson: Exodus 20: 14; Matthew 5: 21-32; Mark 10: 2-9.

Golden Text: Exodus 20: 14.

ONE of the commandments is against adultery. Strictly speaking adultery is a violation of marriage vows. But the word is also used to refer to illicit sexual relations between all persons whatsoever.

In referring to the commandment against adultery, Jesus discussed the source of moral uncleanness. He pointed to the adultery that is in the heart of a man who looks upon a woman to lust after her. And the sin which may be to a man as the apple of the eye should be plucked out and cast away.

Jesus turned to the matter of divorce and laid down the proposition that only an innocent person in the matter of adultery shall have the right to marry another. And Jesus declared that whosoever shall put away his wife except for the cause of fornication makes her an adulteress. Whosoever may marry her will commit adultery.

The passage from Mark gives the answer to Jesus to the scribes and Pharisees concerning divorce. He passed beyond the law of Moses back to the remote day when God made man and woman one flesh, and he declared "What God hath joined together, let not man put asunder." Surely the stamp of antiquity and the hand of God are against moral impurity in sexual relations. Let the church stand firmly against the laxity of the present time.

"I REMEMBER"

BY THE OLD TIMERS

From W. C. Norton, Temperance, Mich.: I remember the woodburning locomotives that used to fuel up where we lived. I remember the cradle and wood rake. I remember my first chew of tobacco, although it was 75 years ago.

From Mrs. E. C. Sillin, Utica, Ohio: Mother would take wood ashes and put them in a barrel, pour water over them and get lye. Then she would take several large ears of corn and shell into a large pan and pour some of the lye and water over the corn. She would cook until you could rub the hulls off the corn with your hands. The product was called hominy.

From Mrs. Godfred Eisele, Chelsea, Mich.: I remember when I was about 8, my mother rented a huckleberry marsh. All they paid then was three cents a quart. When I was 17 I worked in a hotel—had to clean and fill about 30 lamps each day.

From Mrs. Nina Brewer, Winnsboro, Texas: I remember when we used to buy a bottle of medicine and there would be a corkscrew inside the box to remove the stopper from the bottle. I remember when spools had 100 yards of thread for five cents (now only 60 yards).

From Olga K. Robinson, Menlo Park, Calif.: I remember back in New York state when the winter's water supply was hauled by man power through a hole in the ice on the Salmon river. After the hole was cut it was enclosed with a box and cover to keep out dogs.

From Johnson Utterback, Sulphur, Okla.: I remember when my daddy and mother turned the gutters through the filter into the cistern to catch snow water, so we would have pure cool water—also when all the ice we had was cut from rivers and ponds and stored in ice houses with layers of sawdust.

From S. I. McGinnis, Culloden, W. Va.: I remember when we used to go to bean stringings and apple peelings, and what a good time everybody had. I don't hear of these things any more.

From Mrs. Aura Kelsey, Weston, Ohio: I remember when I was a kid my folks used to make apple butter. They would peel the apples the day before and have several barrels of sweet cider ready. They would get up early the next morning and begin stirring apple butter and continue until midnight, making 50 or 60 gallons of apple butter. I have the large brass kettle they used in my yard—it is more than 100 years old.

Ignorance of mountain climbing is blamed for many deaths resulting from this sport. In 10 years, 50 people have died from heart attacks resulting from climbing in the Swiss Alps.

'Wait & See' Says School Unification Panel

Delay in the Lemon Grove school unification program until all interested communities can make certain they are being protected was the advice of a panel invited to attend a meeting concerning school district reorganization problems posed by proposals to create a unified school district embracing La Mesa-Spring Valley Elementary School district and Grossmont and Helix High School districts.

The meeting was sponsored by the Lemon Grove Women's Club, and attended by about 75 persons last Wednesday.

Dr. George Geyer, assistant superintendent of the San Diego city schools, said present district organization is outmoded, costly and inadequate and that state legislation failed to cover the subject. He urged creation of stronger, more efficient districts, able to preserve local control against possible encroachment of outside agencies.

Lewis Smith, principal of Grossmont High School, and C. B. Quicksall, member of the county board of education and a former Grossmont principal, said that the proposal for unification, if it did not include the Lemon Grove elementary district, now a part of the Grossmont High School district, would cause loss of the area's investment in the high schools.

T. V. Benefits But Judicious Dial Twisting Needed

This was disclosed this week by Willis L. Hyatt as he reported on the denomination's recent annual world council in Washington D. C.

Despite war and Soviet domination in some parts of the world, Christian progress on many fronts was reported to the 600 delegates attending the Washington meeting, the local pastor related.

School Tax Increase Curbed

Grossmont Union High School District Board of Trustees announced today that the 60 cent excess tax voted last year for current expenditures had been held to 31 cents for the 1952-53 school year. Board member Charles Irwin stated that the authorized rate of 1.35 had been reduced 29 cents through the operation of three factors.

1. The assessed valuation increased from 56 million to 66 million dollars.

2. The cut budget expenditures to those items essential for operation of a good educational program.

3. Administrative costs were held to a minimum.

The Grossmont Board controls the policies and educational program for Grossmont High School enrolling 2253 and the new Helix High School which enrolls 1430.

Members of the governing board, in addition to Irwin are, C. H. Foster, Lakeside, C. C. Cooper and Rexford L. Hall, El Cajon, and Lester Freeman, La Mesa.

The board policy has been to avoid increase in property taxes when possible without damage to the maintenance of a good educational program. This has been extremely difficult in view of inflationary and growth factors. School costs have been held $80.00 below state averages in the Grossmont district.

"Increased apportionments from state sources, such as is proposed by Proposition 24 would help to transfer a portion of the present tax load from local property," said Irwin.

Camp Fire Girls Follow Indian Signs

Grossmont Community Concert Tickets In Mail

Membership cards are in the mail for the 1952-53 Grossmont Community Concert season. An interested group met Monday evening in the La Mesa Chamber of Commerce Building to do the job of preparation for mailing. The first concert Grossmont will be October 20, presenting the Paganini String Quartet.

Members however, may attend a concert at Coronado October 13 to hear The Angelaires - five harpists in a program of lovely music.

Anyone who has moved into this area recently, who is interested in this season's concerts may call Homeland 6-5812 for information.

Hughes and Shields Named to Committee Posts

H. G. Hughes, Grossmont H. S. District Assistant Superintendent and Gordon Shields, social studies teacher and vice president of the San Diego County Teachers' Association are members of the newly formed County Steering Committee. The committee has recently been formed to study the services of the county superintendent's office, to evaluate the program, and to make recommendations.

The committee, which will hold meetings five times a year and report in January, is made up of representatives of the State department of education, county administrators and county teachers.

Proposition 3 Helps Educate Children—Nimitz

Thousands of children in California will be helped to get a better education if Proposition 3 passes at the November election, Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, state chairman of Californians for Justice in Education, declared today.

"By voting 'yes' on Proposition 3, you will be saying 'yes' to every child's right to a decent education," Nimitz said.

The famed American Navy leader said that approval of Proposition 3 will bring California in line with every other state in treatment of non-profit schools, and will correct a great injustice.

"Our State Legislature voted almost unanimously on this matter and Gov. Earl Warren gave it his strong approval," Nimitz said. "Now the voters of the state are asked to say 'yes' to their representatives by approving Proposition 3."

Report On Last Week's Unification Meeting

Submitted from transcription by members of LG Women's Club

The Lemon Grove Woman's Club sponsored a panel at their club house Wednesday evening, Oct. 1, which presented both sides of the proposal to unify Lemon Grove School District.

If Lemon Grove forms its own unified school district, as proposed, it would have its own system from kindergarten through high school. It is assumed that State aid, in the form of a loan, will help build the necessary buildings.

La Mesa - Spring Valley District has sent in a recommendation to the State for its unification, withdrawing from Grossmont District. Thus Helix and Grossmont High Schools become property of the La Mesa-Spring Valley School District.

Mr. C. B. Quicksall, a member of the County Board of Education, and on the panel at the meeting, (a resident of La Mesa), stated "we must be realistic." He would like to see postponement of these proposals until after election to be sure there are necessary funds available for the rest of the Grossmont School District before La Mesa is allowed to "steal" the only two high schools now available, for "I am interested in the best education for all the children in the entire area."

Mr. Lewis Smith, Superintendent of Grossmont District, said "Unification is indeed a must for California if we are to get the most for our Education dollar." Mr. Smith feels the unification of the whole Grossmont District is preferable, stressing the point that a larger unified district cuts down administration costs and supplies more services and a better educational program at less cost for the taxpayer.

Dr. George Guyer, Assistant Superintendent of San Diego City Schools and Business Manager of San Diego Unified School System, basing his remarks on his experience on State committees for unification and work in the field of education in Germany in 1945, warned against a small unified district because he "has a strong fear and almost hatred of central control concerning a vital activity like education—be that control Sacramento or Washington." He adds that a district must be large enough to "talk back with force."

Although money spent by Lemon Grove taxpayers on Grossmont and Helix will be lost if La Mesa's proposal for their unification is accepted by the State, Mr. Glen Murdock, Superintendent of La Mesa-Spring Valley Schools, feels sure the taxpayers of his District will assume the balance of the bonded indebtedness of the Grossmont District, which amounts to $900,000.

Grossmont District covers an area of 250 square miles with 17,000 pupils, while San Diego Unified School System covers 100 square miles and has approximately 60,000 pupils enrolled.

Mrs. Mary Starr, of Julian's Board of Education, is a member of the San Diego County Committee on School District Organization, as was the panel chairman, Mr. Robert Dent, President of the Board of Education of San Diego City Schools. Mrs. Starr stated it seems to her Grossmont District is "too large geographically," and if there is to be a separation of the District, "the ideal division for unification would be La Mesa, Spring Valley, and Lemon Grove, which Lemon Grove can request."

Many interesting facts and questions developed from this panel, with the intent of informing the people of Lemon Grove as to what is going on concerning our schools.

Petitions are being circulated by Grossmont requesting Sacramento to delay a decision on the La Mesa-Spring Valley Unification proposal until after the November election, when we shall know whether money will be available from the State (Propositions 2 and 24) and whether La Mesa will make reimbursement, both necessary before Lemon Grove will be able to build a new high school here.

Facts & Figures of School Unification

So much interest is being generated at this late date concerning unification of the Lemon Grove School District that this report is published to aid in clarifying the issue.

Following a series of three official hearings, last month the San Diego County Committee on School District Organization recommended the unification of the Lemon Grove School District, if this recommendation is approved at the October 24 meeting of the board, the county superintendent of schools here will be notified to call a school election in Lemon Grove prior to December 31. At that time the voters in the district will be given an opportunity to indicate their desires concerning the unification of the school district.

There are several burning questions to be answered in considering unification. What will it cost? Will the cost of constructing and operating a high school pyramid present costs? Residents should bear in mind the fact that there is a legal limit for the cost of operating schools and this limit cannot be increased except by a vote of the people in the district.

The legal tax limit for operating elementary schools, which include kindergarten through the eighth grade, is 90c on each $100 of assessed valuation. In high schools, made up of the ninth, tenth, eleventh and twelfth grades, the legal tax limit for operation is 75c. The tax limit for a unified school district, which would include all grades, kindergarten through twelfth, is $1.65 on $100 of assessed valuation.

This shows that the legal tax limit for a unified school district is obtained by combining the legal limit for elementary schools with that of high schools. Therefore, the legal tax limit for operating a unified district here would remain as it now exists. Any excess tax levy could be made only if voted by the residents of the district.

The legal bond limit for school building purposes is 5 per cent of the total assessed valuation for an elementary district. It is also 5 per cent of the assessed valuation for a high school district. In a unified school district, the legal bond limit is 10 per cent of the total assessed valuation, thus giving the same overall limit for each level of education.

Because of the continuing need for additional school buildings in this area, all school districts face the problem of being bonded to capacity and of requiring state assistance in building schools. The cost to the taxpayer will be the same whether or not the district is unified.

It will be recalled that voters in this district of Lemon Grove have approved a 50c tax increase for operation of elementary schools. They also have approved a 60c tax increase for operation of high schools. If unification is accomplished, these excess levies in Lemon Grove will be automatically dropped, and the voters will have an opportunity to vote on the reinstatement of an excess tax levy should it be needed to operate the unified district.

Next month two propositions on the ballot, 2 and 24, would hasten a high school here, and the passage would also mean the definite possibility of reducing the tax load on local property.

San Diego Hi Cavemen After Highlander Scalp

Foxy Maynard's Pack Clip Wings Of Angels

By Jerry Dougherty

To equalize the pressure of overwhelming odds of a heavier and faster team is the acid test of expert coaching.

Ken Maynard, his staff; Glen Otterman and Phil Morell, and the Highlanders proved equal to the test by tieing the score with Hamilton gridders, who should have easily won 14-0.

Hamilton's Bob Picket kicked off to the Helix 32, and returned by Ethridge for a short gain. Ernie Merk was smothered for a loss on the first play as the heavier and faster charging Angels spurted through the Helix line like water through a cracked dike.

Hamilton took over on Cedric Jordan's fumble on the 36. The shifty angels running from a T formation behind a powerful line were over for a touchdown in four smartly executed plays. The try for extra point was blocked by Jerry Hurst, Helix hero of the game.

The Highlanders came back with renewed spirit and fierce determination. If Helix has a fault it was not being able to hold onto the greased pigskin. Hamilton kickoff was fumbled by Jordan with Hamilton recovering on the Helix 46. Despite their uphill struggle the game Highlanders fought back hard with excellent tackling by the Jordan brothers, Fackrell, Lebb, Kennison, Thomas and Merk, who intercepted a Hamilton pass and sped 54 yards before being stopped. Paul Martin Hamilton swiftie, rushed from his 48 for a touchdown, which was nullified by an illegal use of hands penalty.

Helix took possession on their 28 and with good blocking by Bender and Herald, Merk picked up yardage at right end. Davies and Fackrell banged an opening for Don Bender to arce 11 yards. Merk sprinted for another gain with the help of McGuire and Herald, who opened the right side of the Hamilton line. Johnson and Fackrell ramed the Hamiltonian left side for Bender and three yards.

Ends Curtis and Hurst were noticably for their blocking and shadowing on pass and punt plays. Curtis gave the fans a thrill by intercepting a pass fumble in mid-air and racing from mid-field to the Hamilton 33. Bruce Bender, Thomas and McGuire heaved the center of the Hamilton line back for Kelly and three yards. Ethridge, Crane and Jordan cleared the way for Merk thrashing a swath for 10 yards. Kelly's pass to Jordan on the Hamilton five yard stripe was intercepted at the whistle for the end of the first half.

The second half opened with the Highlanders charging and tackling harder than ever, and the Hamiltonians visably slowing down from the onslaught. During the exchange of punts and fumbles, Merk with good interference by Don Bender, Hurst and Karl Jordan dodged his way for 12 yards and a 1st down. The third period ended with Merk smoothered for a 13 yard loss.

Merk's punt rolled dead on the Hamilton 17, and the Helix line held the Angels for little or no gain. Bonilla nipped what looked like a long end run for a one yard gain. Davies and Hurst broke up a statue of Liberty play for a loss of eight yards. Hamilton punted and Merk on a series of line plays gained 21 yards. Cedric Jordan skipped 9 yards on a pass from Kelly. Merk's pass to Kelly netted 19 yards. On the Hamilton 6, Merk jump-pass out of Hurst's hands and was intercepted.

With rugged determination the Helix line and backfield held Hamilton for short gains forcing them to punt to their 27, and returned by Merk to the 18. Merk's pass to Hurs brought a first down. With 21 seconds left in the game Merk raced and thrashed insanely down field for a touchdown. With good fundamentals and sheer herculean efforts the Highlanders wore their adversary down and equaled the score. The Helix try for extra point failed. Final score: Helix 6, Hamilton 6. Edgar Stemen assisted as spotter for Helix in the press booth.

The Highlanders are in for another uphill struggle tonight (Friday) when they meet the polished cavemen from San Diego High, who have proven themselves to be leading gridiron contenders. Game time: 8 p.m.; in Aztec Bowl.

MOST VALUABLE . . . Johnny Lindell, voted "most valuable player" in the Pacific Coast League, is the first pitcher selected since 1948. Now with the Hollywood Stars, Lindell, who doubles as outfielder, has won 22 games for the league leaders.

OPS Ceiling Prices

The Office of Price Stabilization placed its sample community pricing posters in the mail last week, and grocers throughout Southern California are now making final revisions of prices and items before the new program goes into operation.

Community pricing which starts October 13, will ease the problem of making ceiling prices known for both buyers and sellers.

The present "dry run" as OPS and the grocers call it, is a complete dress rehearsal for the program itself, except that the sample poster will not be displayed in markets.

In all other respects the rehearsal will be identical with the operation of the program itself.

Grandpa-Grandma Newton See New Baby

Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Newton, 8253 Golden Avenue, entertained last week having their granddaughter Eunice Koon, her husband Robert Koon, and their eight weeks old son, Kalin Dale from Westmoreland. It was the first time the grandparents had seen the new baby.
